9 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Case No. 3:16-cr-00065-MMD-VPC

10 Plaintiff,

ORDER

11 v.

12 JOLENE FRANCES ALECK,

13 Defendant.

15 I. SUMMARY

16 Before the Court is the government's Motion to Reconsider ("Motion for 17 Reconsideration") (ECF No. 40) and Defendant Jolene Aleck's Motion to Compel 18 Compliance with the Court's Order Docketed at ECF 31 ("Motion to Compel") (ECF No.
19 44). The Court has reviewed the government's reply (ECF No. 49),¹ Defendant's 20 response (ECF Nos. 46, 48²), and the parties' additional filings (ECF Nos. 60, 61, 62, 63).
21 The Court heard oral argument on the motions on October 12, 2017. (ECF Nos. 58, 59.)

22 For the reasons discussed below, the Court denies the government's Motion for 23 Reconsideration and grants Defendant's Motion to Compel.

24 II. BACKGROUND

25 An indictment was issued in this case on October 5, 2016, charging Defendant 26 with one count of embezzlement and theft from an Indian Tribal Organization under 18

27 ¹The government did not file a response to the Motion to Compel.

28 ²Defendant filed an errata to clarify an ambiguity in her response.

1 U.S.C. § 1163. (ECF No. 1.) A superseding indictment was filed on October 11, 2017, 2 charging Defendant with five counts of embezzlement and theft from an Indian Tribal 3 Organization under 18 U.S.C. § 1163 and one count of money laundering under 18 U.S.C.
4 § 1344(b). (ECF No. 55 at 1-3.) The superseding indictment also contains an allegation
5 for forfeiture pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 982(a)(1). (Id. at 3-4.) The alleged embezzlement 6 occurred from about May 12, 2016, to June 3, 2016. (Id. at 1-3.)

7 On May 5, 2017, Defendant moved for an order requiring the government “to 8 inspect the personnel files of its law enforcement witnesses and produce all material 9 favorable to the defense and for . . . impeachment materials related to [Bureau of Indian 10 Affairs (“BIA”)] Agent Marla Hernandez” pursuant to Brady v Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 11 (1963), and United States v. Henthorn, 931 F.2d 29 (9th Cir. 1991) (“Defendant’s 12 Motion”). (ECF No. 21 at 1.) Specifically, Defendant requested documents that “reveal 13 instances if not a pattern of performance-related issues that bear directly on the integrity 14 of the investigation in this case[.]” (Id. at 3.) The government then filed an Ex-Parte [sic] 15 Motion Requesting an In Camera Review of Giglio/Henthorn Material in Terms of any 16 Disclosure Obligations as they related to Hernandez (ECF No. 22).³ In the Court’s order 17 resolving these two motions, the Court found that the materials in Hernandez’s Personnel 18 File fell within the government’s disclosure obligations under Henthorn and directed the 19 government to produce the materials to Defendant. (ECF No. 31 at 2.) Based on that 20 ruling, the Court denied Defendant’s Motion as moot. (Id.)

21 The government subsequently filed a Motion to Reconsider, in which it informed 22 the Court that it had decided as a matter of prosecutorial discretion not to call Hernandez 23 to testify at trial. (ECF No. 40 at 2.) Because Henthorn’s disclosure obligations ensue from 24 Brady/Giglio evidence relating to testifying witnesses, the government reasoned that the 25 ///

26 ³To be clear, the materials that the government submitted for in camera review do 27 not comprise of the entire universe of Hernandez’s personnel file. The materials relate to 28 five personnel incidents (“Hernandez’s Personnel File”) (ECF No. 31 at 2) and were provided by the government as “potential Giglio/Henthorn material in reference to SA Hernandez” (ECF No. 22 at 2).

1 portion of the Court's order directing it to produce Hernandez's Personnel File is no longer 2 applicable. (Id.) Defendant has also filed a motion to compel the production of 3 Hernandez's Personnel File in compliance with the Court's order. (ECF No. 44.)

4 III. MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION (ECF No. 40)

5 In light of the government's contention that it no longer plans to call Hernandez to 6 testify, the Court is presented with a change in facts warranting reconsideration of its prior 7 order. See Ramser v. Laielli, No. 15-CV-2018-CAB-DHB, 2017 WL 3524879, at *2 (S.D.
8 Cal. Aug. 15, 2017) ("[a] litigant should not shy from bringing to the Court's attention 9 changes in facts and circumstances that render a ruling no longer logical") (quoting 10 Strobel v. Morgan Stanley Dean Witter, No. 04CV1069 BEN(BLM), 2007 WL 1053454, at 11 *3-4 (S.D. Cal. Apr. 10, 2007)); see also Snyder v Dep't of Defense, No. C-03-4992 VRW, 12 2005 WL 1796228, at *2 (N.D. Cal. July 27, 2005) (holding that the court would not grant 13 plaintiff leave to file a motion for reconsideration where the plaintiff failed to posit a 14 material change in fact or law subsequent to the court's order). This change in facts 15 similarly affects the Court's consideration of Defendant's Motion, which argues that 16 Hernandez's personnel materials must be disclosed under Brady. Thus, because 17 Hernandez's Personnel File is no longer discoverable pursuant to Henthorn, the Court 18 must resolve the remaining issue of whether Brady alone requires the disclosure of 19 Hernandez's Personnel File. The Court finds that it does.

20 A. Brady Obligations

21 Under Brady, the government has a duty to disclose evidence favorable to the 22 accused that is material to her guilt or punishment irrespective of good or bad faith on the 23 part of the prosecution. Brady, 373 U.S. at 87-88. Whether a piece of evidence is material 24 turns on whether there is a reasonable probability—a probability that is "sufficient to 25 undermine confidence in the outcome"—that, had the evidence been disclosed to the 26 defense, the result would have been different. United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. 667, 682 27 (1985). Moreover, "[e]ven in the absence of a specific request, the prosecution has a 28 constitutional duty to turn over exculpatory evidence that would raise a reasonable doubt

1 about the defendant's guilt." California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479, 485 (1984) (citing 2 United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 112 (1976)). Evidence is material not only when it 3 tends to exculpate a defendant or reduce the penalty of her punishment but also where it 4 enables a defendant to put on an effective defense. See id. at 486 (citing United States
5 v. Lovasco, 431 U.S. 783 (1977) and United States v. Valenzuela-Bernal, 458 U.S. 858, 6 873 (1982)). The question, therefore, is whether failure to provide Defendant with 7 Hernandez's Personnel File will hamper her ability to put on a meaningful defense.

8 B. Defendant's Proposed Defenses

9 Defendant proffers three defenses related to the integrity of the investigation—10 Hernandez's bias, lack of ethics or integrity, and lack of credibility. (ECF No. 46 at 5; ECF 11 No. 58.) Because Defendant is entitled to effectively attack Hernandez's investigation, 12 she argues that Hernandez's Personnel File must be disclosed. The Court agrees but 13 finds that only two of Defendant's proposed defenses require disclosure of Hernandez's 14 Personnel File.

15 As to Defendant's first defense, Defendant contends because Hernandez was 16 hired by the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe ("the Tribe") soon after the Indictment was filed in 17 this case "she may have exploited information or relationships during Aleck's investigation 18 for personal gain" and therefore may have been biased in favor of the Tribe during the 19 investigation. (ECF No. 46 at 4.) In particular, Defendant argues that because 20 "[Hernandez] was either applying to the [] Tribe at the time she was investigating this 21 case, laying the groundwork for an application, or considering the application," and 22 because "[t]here is no better way to secure an interview or impress a future employer than 23 to serve their interests before a job is offered," Hernandez's bias permeated each 24 investigative choice she made, infecting the "quality, character, and integrity of the 25 investigation." (ECF No. 46 at 4.) However, nothing in Hernandez's Personnel File would 26 supplement or inform this defense. The materials in Hernandez's Personnel File concern 27 conduct that occurred while Hernandez was employed by the BIA, primarily resulting from 28 events occurring roughly ten years ago, and do not offer any evidence of Hernandez's

1 purported actions during the investigation of Defendant or insight into her intention or plan 2 to work for the Tribe.

3 As to Defendant's second defense, Defendant argues that because Hernandez 4 was the "architect of the entire prosecution"—she coordinated the investigation, collected 5 all the evidence, interacted with and interviewed the witnesses against Aleck, and 6 ultimately recommended prosecution—any evidence concerning Hernandez's ethics or 7 integrity is material to evidence of Defendant's intent. (See ECF No. 46 at 5-6; ECF Nos.
8 58, 59.) The Court agrees and finds that any information relating to Hernandez's integrity 9 and ethics as a law enforcement officer is material to assist in the attack on the integrity 10 of the investigation. See Kyles v. Whitley, 514 U.S. 419, 449 n. 19 (1995) (stating that 11 various pieces of evidence would have enabled the defendant to attack the integrity of 12 the investigation, such as evidence undermining the "process by which the police 13 gathered evidence and assembled the case").

14 [REDACTED]
16 [REDACTED]
17 [REDACTED] (ECF No. 30 at 5.)⁴ These facts coupled with Defendant's contention that 18 Hernandez may have prompted witnesses with leading questions in interviews conducted 19 during the investigation persuade the Court that Hernandez's Personnel File may enable 20 Defendant to present an effective defense in attacking the integrity of the investigation.
21 The ability to undermine the process of the investigation may introduce reasonable doubt 22 as to whether witnesses testifying against Defendant were influenced by Hernandez's 23 actions.

24 Finally, and as to Defendant's third defense, Defendant argues because 25 Hernandez was the agent who memorialized Aleck's interview, if any of Aleck's 26 statements are used at trial then the accuracy of Hernandez's memorialization, and thus

27 ⁴This reference to sensitive personnel information will be redacted in the unsealed 28 version of this order.

1 Hernandez's credibility as an investigator, will be at issue. (See ECF No. 46 at 5.) As 2 Defendant noted at the October 12th hearing, the issue in this case is whether Aleck had 3 the requisite intent for the crime of embezzlement—that is, whether she “knowingly” stole 4 money from the Tribe. Defendant contends that the statements in Hernandez's 5 memorialization of her interview of Defendant (ECF No. 60-1) are not accurate, therefore 6 any evidence going to Hernandez's credibility as an investigator would be material to 7 advancing a defense attacking the integrity of the investigation. (ECF No. 59.) Moreover, 8 the Court's previous order determined that Hernandez's Personnel File shed light on her 9 credibility.⁵ (ECF No. 31.) The government's contention that Defendant may not call 10 Hernandez for the sole purpose of impeaching her is correct if Defendant's primary 11 purpose of calling her is to impeach her credibility as a testifying witness with otherwise 12 inadmissible evidence. See United States v. Gilbert, 57 F.3d 709, 711 (9th Cir. 1995) 13 (citing United States v. Gomez-Gallardo, 915 F.2d 553, 555 (9th Cir. 1990) (a party must 14 not “knowingly elicit testimony from a witness in order to impeach him with otherwise 15 inadmissible testimony”)) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted). However, it is 16 Hernandez's credibility in her investigative role that is at issue and not her credibility as a 17 testifying witness, and at this stage of the case the Court is not required to consider the 18 admissibility of Hernandez's Personnel File. Hence, if impeachment were to occur at trial 19 through the use of information contained in Hernandez's Personnel File, it would likely go 20 to the weight of Hernandez's prior memorialization of witness statements and not her 21 testimony on the stand. The government's statement that “Hernandez may have been a 22 less-than-exemplary employee of BIA and may not have met BIA standards of conduct in 23 other cases” does, in fact, create “a potential impeachment issue if she testifies in this

25 ⁵To the extent the government takes issue with Defendant's failure to specify how 26 Hernandez's alleged impropriety relates to her personnel information other than through 27 “vague, non-specific representations” (ECF No. 49 at 2), the Court finds its previous order 28 indicating the existence of impeachment evidence gives Defendant sufficient grounds to request this material under Brady. (ECF No. 31.) Moreover, given defense counsel's obligation to provide effective representation under the Sixth Amendment, it was appropriate to request Hernandez's Personnel File even if defense counsel is unaware of how the personnel matters in them specifically relate to the investigation of Defendant.

1 case” insofar as it relates to her previous role as an investigator. (ECF No. 49 at 3.) 2 Because Defendant proposes to call Hernandez, and Defendant is permitted to attack the 3 credibility of her own witness if she so chooses, the Court finds that Hernandez’s 4 Personnel File is discoverable under Brady.

5 IV. MOTION TO COMPEL (ECF No. 44)

6 Given the Court’s ruling that Hernandez’s Personnel File is discoverable pursuant 7 to Brady, the Court grants Defendant’s Motion to Compel. To ensure that Defendant has 8 the materials that the Court has reviewed relating to the incident that immediately 9 preceded Hernandez’s resignation, the government is ordered to produce a copy of the 10 June 8, 2017, email exchange filed under seal as ECF No. 29-1, and the October 13, 11 2017, filed as ECF No. 62-1. The government, however, may redact the last sentence in 12 the main paragraph of the June 8, 2017, email from Mr. Bryant that begins with “My 13 supervisor . . .” since that sentence conveys information unrelated to this case.

14 V. CONCLUSION

15 The Court notes that the parties made several arguments and cited to several 16 cases not discussed above. The Court has reviewed these arguments and cases and 17 determines that they do not warrant discussion as they do not affect the outcome of the 18 parties’ motions.

19 It is therefore ordered that the government’s Motion for Reconsideration (ECF No.
20 40) is denied.

21 It is further ordered that Defendant’s Motion to Compel (ECF No. 44) is granted.

22 The Court’s previous order directing confidential treatment of Hernandez’s 23 personnel materials remains in effect. (ECF No. 31 at 5.)
